

THE HEARING PROFESSIONAL

Editorial Submission Guidelines

The Hearing Professional (THP) magazine is the official publication of the International Hearing Society. This quarterly publication includes industry news, membership highlights and best practices, hearing healthcare legislation, and other information and tools for hearing healthcare professionals.

IHS welcomes submissions of articles for consideration in THP. Your submission must be free of commercialism and be timely and relevant to the hearing health industry or general business management.

Submitting an article for Continuing Education Credit

IHS offers readers of THP the chance to earn continuing education credit by reading selected articles and completing the quiz at the end. Articles range in subject from audiometric assessment and instrument fitting to patient counseling, rehabilitation and practice management tools. If you believe your article is suitable for continuing education credit, include a 10-question, multiple choice quiz to accompany your submission. If IHS determines the article does not meet the guidelines for credit, the article will still be considered for publication without the quiz and no credit will be given. Continuing education articles typically run in length from 2,500 – 5,000 words.
